Internally displaced people (IDPs) refers to persons who have been forced or obliged to flee, or to leave their homes or places of habitual residence, in particular as a result of or in order to avoid the effects of armed conflict, situations of generalized violence, violations of human rights or natural or human-made disasters, and who have not crossed an internationally recognized state border. IOM considers IDPs displaced since December 2013.

Figures represent DTM findings from Mobility Tracking Round 4 (data collected Nov to Dec 2018). Please note that these are not representative for the entire country as not all locations have been assessed.
